The End of Irondale Furnace.

OLD BUILDINGS BEING TORN DOWN.

NEW INDUSTRIES TO BE STARTED.

Pease's Purchase.

The furnaces at Irondale were built about fifty years ago. At that time iron ore was to be found in large quantities near Bloomsburg, and the company made up mostly of Boston and Philadelphia capitalists, prospered greatly. During the war there was a mint of money in the iron business, and the two furnaces at Irondale were kept going steadily, turning out thirty tons or more a day, which at that time reached as high as $40 per ton. C. R. Paxton was President of the company and resided at Irondale. On his removal to Virginia nearly twenty years ago, E. R. Drinker became Superintendent, and moved out to the Irondale mansion. But the iron trade had declined, and the ore having been worked out in this section, most of the ore had to be transported by boat or car, from Snyder county and Maryland, which increased the cost of production. It has been said that for the last dozen years or more of its existence the company did business at a loss. In 1889 the plant was purchased by Messrs. Knorr and Wintersteen, and the entire management changed. But iron still continued to decline in price, and Col. Knorr's death occuring soon afterwards, the furnaces were shut down, and have been operated but little since then.

Recently the entire plant has been purchased by H. C. Pease. The sale includes the furnaces and shops, store, residences and Morgantown houses, railroad tracks, and everything connected with the furnaces. The work of demolition is now going on. One of the furnaces has been torn down, also the blacksmith shop, and on the site of the latter foundation walls have been laid for a three story brick building, which Mr. Pease says will be under roof in thirty days.

In order to raise money to carry on his enterprise Mr. Pease is circulating a subscription paper which reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, agree to take the amount of bonds drawn by H. C. Pease and to be secured by a first lien mortgage to be executed by the said H. C. Pease on all that certain real estate in the town of Bloomsburg known as the Bloomsburg Iron Co's. Property now held by H. C. Pease under article of agreement with the said Company. Said mortgage to be in the sum of $75,000 and the bonds to be issued as hereinafter set forth and to bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum payable semi-annually, the principal made payable in equal annual installments of $3000, the first thereof payable January 1, 1897. Same to contain the usual insurance clause for the benefit of the bondholder, which insurance shall not be for a sum at any time less than the amount of the bonds that may be unpaid at such time. Also containing the usual clause providing for fore closure in case of failure, &c. Bonds to be issued as follows: $25,000 upon the execution of the mortgage and $1,000 for each 1000 square feet of floor space that may be erected on the premises for factory purposes, provided that such additional building shall be fitted up with shafting to connect with power to operate the same, and the rental value of same including power and heat shall not be less than $100 for 1000 square feet of floor space. The mortgage to be made payable to trustees to be named by the subscribers"

There is no reason why this should not be a profitable investment. It is supplied with excellent railroad facilities, good water power, and everything complete for the operation of large manufactories.

Irondale was the centre of attraction on Sunday afternoon. Hundreds of towns people walked out there to see what is being done.

STEALING PIGEONS.

Last week Thursday, Roy Crossley, Arthur Krug, Thos. Metherell 3rd, and Gurley Lyons were arrested and taken before Guy Jacoby Esq., charged with stealing pigeons. They confessed to taking birds from Samuel Pursel and Geo. Moyer, and C. M. Creveling, and admitted that they had stolen over 300 altogether in Bloom and the surrounding country. They sold them to the Bloomsburg Gun Club. The boys were sent to jail to await trial at December court.

Whiskers that are prematurely gray or faded should be colored to prevent the look of age, and Buckingham's Dye excels all others in coloring brown or black.

BLOOMSBURG IS A BOROUGH.

The Town of Bloomsburg is the corporate name of the municipality and has no other significance than to give it a name. By the Act of 1834, Purdon 196 pl 1 (1883) the courts were empowered to incorporate any town or village and any town or village became a body corporate and politic by the name so given or sanctioned by the court. The Act of 1870, organizing the Town of Bloomsburg, in the 12th Sec. speaks of the "corporate name of said town" and provides for suits and defenses.

The Act of May 5, 1876, Purdon 205 pl. 81, speaks of a borough or incorporated town. The word is not and but or, and the word used is significant in this place. It groups them together as coming under one general head, as hotel, inn or tavern; horse, mare or gelding; and the Acts of Assembly concerning boroughs are no doubt applicable to all municipal organizations which exist at the date of the Act. When the Town was organized the Legislature could and did subject it to certain of the general borough laws, and relieve it from others; but it does not follow that general municipal regulations passed afterward do not include it, although not mentioned by name or other designation.

Moreover, Judge Elwell decided in an opinion filed by him, that the town of Bloomsburg was to all intents and purposes a borough: and it would be curious if a general Act should not include, under the constitution of 1874, all the organizations and incorporations of municipalities within the State. Local and special legislation is forbidden, and the Act of May 23, 1893, is a step in the direction of bringing all municipal governments of that class—those less than cities—into uniformity.

Bloomsburg is a borough under the name, style and title of "The Town of Bloomsburg;" and since 1874, at all events, subject to all the general laws passed relating to boroughs. If so, then we are subject to the Act of May 23, 1893, and must look out for a change in the officers and management of our local affairs. The coming election must not be neglected. Its importance is manifest. We are more than ever needing clear heads and steady hands. Let us look to it in time.

QUERIST.

KELLAR.

That Man of Marvels, Kellar, whom some experts think something more than a man, will give in Bloomsburg, his new and wonderful entertainment. We are prone in these material times to decry magic and deem its professors humbugs. The fact is that the advance of science continually reveals to us novelties such as the story books of old never dreamed of and goes far towards strengthening our belief in the almost supernatural powers of such gifted men as this greatest of American magicians. He comes to Bloomsburg direct from Daly's theatre after an extraordinary season of 3 months in that dramatic temple of fashion in the metropolis. His performance will be fully equal to his great reputation. Among his novelties are, Nana Sahib, Cagliostro, Astarte, the Maid of the Moon, "Oh," or the Mysterious Disappearance of a Human being from a brilliantly lighted stage, "Out of Sight," "Flyto," Mrs. Kellar's marvelous performance in Karmos, and other feats of ancient and modern mysticism which must be seen to be appreciated. Kellar will be at the Opera House on Friday evening, Nov. 3rd.

RAILROAD DIFFICULTIES.

It seems there has been a dispute between the Lehigh Valley and the W. & N. B. concerning the right of way at Satterfield, and on Monday night, October 16, the latter company took possession of a strip of ground where the Lehigh Valley was grading for a switch. The W. & N. B. put down their own ties and rails and took other steps to make their occupancy permanent. On Friday, the 20th, a large force of Lehigh Valley men appeared on the scene, tore up the disputed switch and laid one of their own, laying a temporary switch right over the site of the new depot, an old locomotive was run onto the site, jacked up. the track pulled out from under it, and the locomotive dropped down in the mud. All this looks a if there would be no understanding reached between the two roads as to running trains to Towanda over the Lehigh Valley tracks. The trouble is greatly regretted in this locality.—Dushore Review.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The Third Annual Conference of the North Branch of the Susquehanna Synod of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Evangelical Lutheran Church met at Catawissa, Tuesday evening, Oct. 31, 93, with a goodly number of delegates present.

The meeting was opened by singing "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken." Mrs. J. R. Dimm, president of the conference presiding. Mrs. Dimm chose for the scripture lesson of the evening, the story of The Good Samaritan as found in St. Luke 10: 25-37 and made some very practical remarks on the same as applied to ourselves as to who is our neighbor in a missionary sense of the word.

This was followed by prayer by Mrs. G. P. Frymire of Bloomsburg.

Miss Martha Berninger, in the name of the Missionary Society of Catawissa gave the visiting delegates a cordial welcome which was responded to by Mrs. J. L. Miller, of Sunbury.

Recitation "Thora" by Miss Hattie Abbott of Catawissa.

Mrs. Wm. Chrisman read an excellent essay "The Christian Spirit a Missionary Spirit," in which she set forth very clearly that if we have the love of Christ in our hearts we will be ready to do what we can for those who do not know him.

A collection was then taken up to defray the expenses of the conference.

After singing by the choir "Under the Shadow of his Wing," Rev. S. E. Bateman, of Philadelphia, one of our home missionaries who now has charge of the mission of which Rev. F. P. Manhart was formerly pastor, was introduced. Rev. Bateman gave a very encouraging report of the returns for money expended in Home Mission work, both in souls brought to Christ and money paid back to the Mission Board by those helped.

He spoke very forcibly of the need of more churches, especially in the large cities, and the difficulties our missionaries have to contend with in establishing them. After presenting the needs of the work in general he presented the needs of the work that lay nearest his own heart, the needs of his own work, and asked the delegates to present the matter to their respective societies and ask them to do what they can for them.

After a vote of thanks to Rev. Bateman for his encouraging and instructive address the meeting closing by singing the Doxology, and the benediction by Rev. Myers.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The morning session was opened by about twenty minutes' devotional exercises, after which the business of the conference was begun with roll-call of delegates and reading of the minutes of Tuesday evening's session. The president appointed the necessary committees.

Mrs. J. Anna Kistner of Selinsgrove and Mrs. Weaver of Sunbury each read a paper on the subject, "Should our contributions for Church Extension be made, in every case, an unconditional gift to the church aided?"

It was Mrs. Kistner's opinion as well as Mrs. Weaver's, that in the main it was more beneficial to give our contributions as a loan to be returned to the Board of Missions when the church aided is able to do so, as by so doing the fund can then be used to help other struggling churches.

After these papers the matter of helping some particular mission was discussed. The conference had no authority to take any definite action, but a motion was made and carried that each society do what it can to help Rev. Bateman in his work at Philadelphia.

Although this was the third meeting of the conference it had not as yet adopted a constitution, and Mrs. P. A. Heilman then presented a constitution for the consideration of the conference. The constitution was first adopted item by item and then as a whole.

Mrs. A. N. Warner of Northumberland, gave a talk on "Synodical Contingent Fund," which was followed by remarks by several of the ladies on the subject.

Reading by Miss Ella Knittle of Catawissa.

Singing, "I need Thee precious Jesus," and prayer by Rev. Griffith closed the morning session.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Yetman Kistner of Hazleton conducted the devotional exercises. The committees appointed during the morning session reported immediately after the devotional exercises. The election of officers for the ensuing year was next in order. The former officers were all re-elected, viz: Mrs. J. R. Dimm, Selinsgrove, president; Mrs. F. H. Jenkins, vice president. Mrs. M. L. Shindel, Danville, secretary, and Mrs Weber of Sunbury, treasurer.

Miss Kate Hummel of Northumberland, read a paper on "How can we perpetuate our organization and its work?", followed by Mrs. Kistner of Hazleton on the same subject. To perpetuate our work we must make our society meetings interesting, we must instill in the hearts and minds of the children a love for the work and we must educate the young people to the needs of the work.

The president called on Rev. A. N. Warner for remarks on the subject; he said he thought the work could be perpetuated by establishing a mission within the bounds of our own Synod.

Dr. Anna S. Kugler, medical missionary in India, having arrived, Mrs. J. R. Dimm formally presented to her the $1000 contributed by the Susquehanna Synodical Society to endow a bed in the hospital to be built at Guntur, India, Mrs. G. P. Frymire and Mrs. P. A. Heilman unveiling the tablet that is to be placed beside the bed in the hospital.

Dr. Kugler was then introduced and gave a very interesting and encouraging report of the work in India. To give an account of her address would occupy too much space, but no one could hear her without feeling that every effort that has been made to christianize heathen India has been more than repaid both to the missionary in the field and the church at home.

About half-past four the children came in and Dr. Kugler told them of her Sunday School in India and many other things equally interesting to the children. She also showed the girls a dress, such as they wear in India, made by one of the boarding-school girls. It was very neatly done and would have done credit to one of our high school graduates.

The afternoon session was closed by singing by the children and prayer by Rev. Heilman.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The evening session was opened by a voluntary and an anthem by the choir followed by devotional exercises.

Mrs. F. H. Jenkins, of Bloomsburg, gave a Bible Reading on prayer. It was very well prepared and showed clearly that it is our duty to pray; that in prayer we should give thanks as well as make petitions; that we must pray often; that if we would have our prayers answered, we must comply with the conditions as set forth in the Bible, that is, we must pray in faith; we must make our lives conform to our prayers, we must pray in sincerity and we must pray in Christ's name.

Mrs. Dimm, delegate of the Synodical Society to the General Convention at Omaha, Neb., June 22-26, 1893, then gave a report of the convention which was full of interest and contained many suggestions in regard to the work.

A number of the children and young people of the Sunday School then rendered an allegory. "Crowning the Sunday School Angel." This allegory set forth the fact that while order, literature, music and love are all important the Bible is the essential factor in the Sunday School, before which all other factors must bow in humble submission.

A reading "Put Your Heart in It," by Miss Ida Walters. While the collection was being lifted the conference was favored with a duet "Lead Thou Me On," by Mr. and Mrs. David Derr. This was followed by two recitations, "Tommy's Prayer," by Miss Lillie Fahringer and "Jamie" by Miss Bessie Harder.

Rev. Griffiith, former'y a home missionary in Nebraska was called for and was asked to tell us something of Home Mission work in the west. He spoke particularly regarding sending boxes to the missionaries in the western field and gave some very timely suggestions on the subject.

A male quintet sang "Nearer My Home" and Rev. Griffith pronounced the benediction. May the information gained at this Conference and the inspiration received be carried by the delegates to their respective societies and may it be productive of a greatly increased interest in mission work at home and in the foreign field.

Kellar, the Magician, will appear in the Bloomsburg Opera House this week Friday evening. Last year when he was here every seat was filled. His tricks are certainly wonderful, and if it were not known they were performed by sleight of hand, it would seem that he must be assisted by some supernatural agency. Reserved seats at Dentler's.

A house belonging to Dr. H. A. Robbins on Rock street, occupied by Mrs. Ella Kline caught fire from a flue on Monday morning. It was extinguished with a garden hose and buckets, but considerable damage was done by the water.

BRIEF MENTION.

About People You Know.

Rev. F. W. Hiller is visiting Prof. and Mrs. G. E. Wilbur.

Hon. A. L. Fritz returned from the World's Fair last Saturday.

William Gilmore was in the city this week buying new Christmas toys.

C. A. Kleim is the happy father of a second daughter, born on Monday.

Ex-Sheriff Samuel Smith of Stillwater, spent last Saturday in town, and was warmly greeted by his many friends.

B. F. Dreisbach of Berwick, was in Bloomsburg on Tuesday. He handles musical instruments and sewing machines.

Benton was well represented in town last Saturday, among the visitors being Editor Smith of the Argus, Eli McHenry and G. B. McHenry.

Mr. Edward B. Tustin, cashier of the First National Bank, and Miss Helen E. daughter of Rev. W. G. Ferguson, will be married in the M. E. church on November 9th at nine o'clock.

TEACHER'S LECTURE COURSE.

The Teacher's lecture course has been arranged with great care. The very best avilable talent has been secured:

Monday evening. Illustrated lecture. John B. DeMott.

Prof. DeMott is the most scientific and highly entertaining lecturer on the platform of to-day in America.

HENRY GRADY.

Tuesday evening. Levin Irvin Handy.

Mr. Handy's lecture on "Patrick Henry" is a lecture on an orator by an orator.

DR. T. B. NOSS,
Prin. Cal. State Normal School.

Wednesday evening. Col. Geo. W. Bain.

Unequalled in humor, he is also unapproached in pathos. Logical to the core. To a pictorial memory, keen, incisive judgment, and a sunlit imagination, Mr. Bain adds a pleasing presence, faultless manner, and a voice of mellow compass and subtlest sympathy. MISS FRANCIS MILLARD.

Thursday evening. The Ollie Torbett Concert Co.

Miss Ollie Torbett succeeded in extracting more of the concord of sweet sounds from the most musical of all musical instruments, the violin, than even a cultured and charmed audience could admit the possibility of.

Brooklyn Daily Standard.

The audience listened spell-bound to Mr. Isidore Moquist's exquisite piano playing. N. Y. Sun.

The famous Lutteman Sextette given voices of unusual sweetness and power, such as seem the product of the land of Jennie Lind, cultivation and association has blended them so that they seem to respond to a thought.

Tickets for the course $1.50. The public can purchase tickets on and after 10 o'clock A. M., Thursday, Nov. 2nd.

RETURNED HOME.

Mr. F. M. Hartman of Salida, Colorado, who has been visiting friends here for some time, left on last Wednesday for Mosoria, where he will stop a few weeks with his parents.

From there he will go to Salida, which he now calls home; having held a position there as clerk for the Rio Grande Hotel Company for nearly four years.

On his way here he took in the World's Fair; and will stop at many other places of interest which he enjoys very much.

Mr. Hartman left Pennsylvania for the far west nine years ago. (then a boy.) During his absence he has been through many of the western states, and he came back a gentleman in every respect, which friends as well as himself can be proud of.

He leaves many warm friends here who wish him abundant success through life, and hope that he will make many more visits.

NEVER TOO LATE.

How the Old Folks Proved the Adage a True One.

It was decided at last. The home-place would have to be sold, for none of the boys were willing to lift the mortgage—wouldn't pay, they said—and the father and mother would have to end their days apart.

"Because," said Matilda, the youngest, "it wouldn't do for any one of us to try to take care of them both together. We've always had to live in the quarrel and jangle ourselves, and to have the example of it before our children would be a downright sin."

Jane, the older daughter, said nothing, but she thought to herself that if her husband were worth as much as Matilda's was she would take both parents to her home and risk the example they might set for the third generation.

But ever since Matilda had first lisped her voice had settled family matters, and so father was to go with Jane to the city and mother to move over to the great red-brick farmhouse which was Matilda's home.

"Mother will be right handy about the work," Matilda said to her husband, when he showed some inclination to object. "And there isn't a better hand in the country with children. We won't lose anything."

So the September morning came when the couple who had never parted in fifty years bade each other farewell, much as mere acquaintances would have done.

Father, dressed in his best clothes, muttered "Good-by" in a defiant sort of way and hobbled out to the spring wagon, while Jane paused to kiss the little old woman who sat looking out of the window in an indifferent way.

"Good-by, mother. I hope you will be happy with Mat. Won't you come to the door and see father off?"

"Oh—I dunno as it's wuth while," returned the old lady, and then Jane, too, was gone.

When she was sure the spring wagon was out of sight Mrs. Paine put on her gingham bonnet and walked over to the cemetery just up the hill.

The graves where she paused were not well tended—no engraved stones marked their places and the grass was cut away only enough to outline the mounds. Two were small, those of infants; one was that of a man's size, and they were all her children, two daughters and one son. The son was her oldest child and he would have been forty-eight or forty-nine years old now. He had died while studying for the ministry. She had seven children living, but in her times of trouble and sorest trial she had always wandered over to this sacred spot ever since it was first made thirty years ago.

To-day she sat down in the sun-dried grass and cried for some time.

"He might a-said something more," she sobbed to herself. And then she heard Matilda calling and hurried back to the house.

The months passed slowly. At Christmas time there was some talk of a reunion, but the talk did not materialize.

Letters came from Jane saying father was tolerably contented, but missed his loafing place at "The Corners." He sent his regards to mother. Jane always added that of her own accord, for father never sent any word to anyone. But when Matilda answered the old mother always told her to inquire after father's health and to send her respects.

It was one warm day in March that the little old lady's cup seemed full to overflowing. Matilda had gone to town, and the children were unusually quarrelsome and boistrous. The grandmother had reproved them mildly, and at last she spoke a little sharply.

"Brothers and sisters shouldn't wrangle the hull time! You ort to say a decent word to one nuther onct in awhile, anyways" she said.

Lucy, the chief culprit, tossed her head disdainfully.

"I guess you needn't to talk, grandma! Mamma says you and grandpa always lived like cats and dogs."

"And you're livin' off papa, now, too," added George, emboldened by his sister's example, and not particular as to whether his remarks were called for or not.

Mrs. Paine sat very still for a moment. Then a bright red spot flamed on each cheek, and gathering up her knitting she slowly went to her room upstairs.

Yes, it was true. But what had caused it? They had married young and for love only, for neither had any worldly wealth. How had the trouble commenced? She could not remember exactly, but the children were the main causes. The babies came fast and the mother had to work hard. Sickness and hard work do not sweeten a woman's temper. The father was impatient and easily rebuffed—that was how it commenced.

Then the jarring culminated in one great quarrel, when Henry, the oldest, was sent away to school. His father wanted to hire him out when he was seventeen, but the mother was ambitious and Henry had finished the course at the village academy with high honors.

He was thirsting for more study—a bright, handsome lad, and his mother was so proud of him—and he went away to college. But never again was there peace between the parents. At college Henry was converted to religion and decided to study for the ministry—then he was stricken with typhoid fever, and the greater part of his mother's heart was buried with him in the village cemetery.

The poor little faded mother sat there recalling the long-lost years, now with a thrill, now with a pang, earthly ambitions and death-despairs strangely mingled, and not noting the silence in the rooms below until the sun was near setting. Then Matilda's voice was calling through the house and the mother awoke from her reveries and went downstairs.

"Where are the children?" demanded Matilda, sharply.

"Now, I declar I dunno!" confessed her mother, shamefacedly.

"Well, mother. It does seem to me, as much as I do for you, you might look after them better. It's all you've got to do. There's no telling what mischief they're in!"

And again the old lady went to her room in silence and with burning cheeks. When they called her to supper she said she was not hungry, and, as Lucy and George were in disgrace and sent to bed supperless, Matilda and her husband ate alone.

"Mother always did have such a disagreeable temper—stubborn and sulky. If she had been milder with father they would have lived more like other people," said Matilda, indifferently, when explaining the cause of her mother's absence.

"I wouldn't keer so much," the old lady was sobbing to herself upstairs, "if only pap hed sent me some little word that he wanted to see me. Children's most allers ungrateful any ways, 'specially them that's hed the most done fur 'em, an' I've worked my life out for mine.

"But I wouldn't a had 'em if it hadn't a been for love of pap, an' I don't think he'd ort to forgit me now!"

Down in the city the warm spring days awoke a new restlessness in old Mr. Paine. His daughter Jane was as kind to him as a kind daughter could be. Her children were taught to address him respectfully and to wait on his every wish because he was their grandparent. But the warm sunshine called up visions of the country home where the grass would be just deepening into green again and the maple boughs bursting with buds.

He had always had a lettuce bed just through at this time. And the spring longings recalled the days of youth and the little children who had played about him as he weeded and hoed in his garden, and the busy mother often taking time from her own work to help him. But she had always scolded so much, he muttered defiantly to himself, and was ever so determined to have her own way. Then a twinge of conscience told him her way had generally been the best, for she was clearer-sighted than he, and he picked up his cane and hobbled away to the park in a funny sort of little dudgeon. Then as he sat in the park he thought of Henry and tears came to his eyes in spite of him.

"He's mighty fond of his mother—an' she was a good mother, too; I'll say that for her anyways. Henry was a fine boy. He'd a-been the finest we got if he'd a-lived, for he seemed to hev more sense an' good-heartedness, someways. I don't know as I blame her, after all, for bein' so bound to hev him go to college."

And, the barrier of stubborn reproach once loosened, some way everything began to look different, and when he hobbled back to the house the old gentleman was very heart-sick to see the wife he had treated so brusquely the past many years.

He went straight to his old satchel and took out a well-cared-for book, but one of an old binding and print. It was a Latin grammar, and had been his secret and most carefully-preserved treasure for over thirty years.

As the mother had gone to the grave of her most ardent ambitions, so he now turned the pages of his boy's book, one word of which he could not understand but could only regard with awe. Then he came to a page on the margin of which was much fine writing in elegant script. It was not hard for him to read, little book learning as he had.

"Mother—dear mother. Wife and mother, man's truest friends—guardian angels in death. Mother—sweetheart—wife—Edith."

"He must a-been in love with somebody himself," mused the old father, "but he didn't forgit his mother, neither. She was my sweetheart onct!"

Before grandfather went to sleep that night he had formed a fresh determination.

"Jennie," he said to his daughter in the morning, "you know the Barkin cottage up to the Crossings? Well, I'm goin' up and see if I can't rent it. They's a nice garden patch with it, and 'tain't too late yet to put in garden stuff, an'—an'—don't ye think mother'd be willin' fur to cook fur me—"

"Yes, father; you know she always sends you her respects." There were tears in Jane's eyes, despite the smile on her lips.

"An' I'm pretty sure I could make enough with the garden fur her an' me, an' you children could help ds. I don't believe Henry would want us to live this way; do you?"

"No, father."

That night, an hour or so after the express thundered past the station, a couple of miles from the crossing, Grandfather Paine walked up Matilda's front yard and around to the back door, where the old grandmother was putting away the night's milk.

Grandmother gave a little glad cry and dropped the crock of milk all over the tabby cat, and threw her arms around his neck.

"I just couldn't stand it no longer, Mary, an' I 'lowed as you and me hed run it this long we might stick together for the few years that's left to us. An' mother, I'm powerful sorry I fit you like I allers did about Henry's goin' to college."

Matilda started to oppose the new arrangements. She said they weren't fit to be left alone at their age and would be an endless trouble to the children.

But for once Matilda was overruled and in a few days grandmother was busily engaged in "fixin' up" the little rented nest, only a stone's throw from the old home where the ten children had been sheltered and had died or married. And, as they say in more romantic tales, they lived happily ever afterward.—Belle V. Logan, in Chicago News.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

SENATOR GORMAN EXPLAINS.

AMENDMENTS TO VOORHEES BILL.

Real Estate in Washington.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30, 1893.

Senator Gorman's explanation of the sudden change which without warning swept away all chance of the adoption of democratic silver compromise and made the passage of the Voorhees bill for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law a certainty, just when it seemed an utter impossibility, is timely as well as interesting. It was made in the Senate Saturday afternoon and has since formed the principle topic of conversation wherever two or three democrats are gathered together. It was in the course of a few remarks made in reply to a speech of Senator Sherman in favor of the issue of $200,000,000 in bonds and attacking the democrats for not providing therefore, that Mr. Gorman told why there was no democratic compromise. He started in by scoring Senator Sherman for trying to make party capital out of the present condition of affairs, and then said that Sherman, as the republican leader, and the leader of a majority of those Senators who represented the repeal sentiment, held the key to the situation and dictated terms to the administration and the Senate; that a better measure, one doing justice to all interests and at the same time furnishing the relief wanted by the administration, could have been agreed upon and passed had the republicans been more patriotic and less devoted to partisanship. He said that democrats had been obliged to set aside lifetime convictions to meet the emergency, forced by the republicans, and save the administration. Mr. Gorman said in conclusion that he would not repeat confidential conversations, but that it was exceedingly unfortunate that democrats had misunderstood; that he expected further financial trouble for the Treasury. It would be caused by extravagant appropriations by recent Congresses; but the democratic party, now controlling the entire government would assume the responsibility of meeting it. In addition to being an explanation Senator Gorman's remarks were a fitting rebuke to John Sherman for his audacity in attempting to pose before the country as the financial director of the democratic administration. Past republican extravagance may make an issue of bonds necessary in the near future, but if they are issued it will not be under a bill fathered or introduced by John Sherman. There is sufficient financial talent in the democratic majority to prepare all the financial measures that will be passed by this Congress.

Speaking of bonds, Senator Blackburn settled a controversy that has been open a long time when Senator Sherman in reply to a question denied any knowledge of the Harrison administration having had the plates engraved for an issue of bonds under the act of 1875, by stating that the plates were prepared and that if it were necessary to substantiate his statement he could in an hour produce them in the Senate.

The Senate has already made considerable progress in disposing of the amendments offered to the Voorhees bill, and unless something unexpected shall occur to delay matters the rest of them will be disposed of and the bill itself passed and sent to the House before the middle of the week. That it will be speedily disposed of by the House is considered certain.

If Congress takes a recess at all after the silver question is disposed of it is not now expected that it will be longer than to about the 20th of November, as Chairman Wilson expects to have the new tariff bill ready to report to the House about that time. Before the bill is reported to the House it will be submitted to a democratic caucus for its formal approval as a party measure.

In view of the pledges of the democratic party and the record of the democratic Congress thus far in favor of economy in public expenditures the scheme of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to increase the value of suburban property around Washington, which is largely owned by a ring of real estate speculators, by asking Congress for authority to issue $5,000,000 in bonds, the money to be spent in opening and improving streets and building sewers, is to say the least a rather cheeky proceeding. The District of Columbia already carries an enormous indebtedness in the shape of bonds issued under the old form of government, the interest upon which Congress has guaranteed. Even if this scheme was really in the interest of all the people residing in the district, which everybody knows it isn't this would be no time to increase the District's indebtedness by issuing new bonds. Your correspondent cannot believe that the influence of the Washington real estate ring, great as it is known to be, will be sufficiently powerful to control the votes of a sufficient number of democrats to get this job through either House or Senate.

UNION VETERAN LEGION.

Wednesday evening last week was spent very pleasantly at the St. Charles in Berwick, by members of the Union Veteran Legion, Camp 32, headquarters at Bloomsburg. One of the features of this encampment is an annual banquet. That held at the St. Charles Wednesday evening is the sixth and most enjoyable they have given.

The Berwick members numbering eleven greeted the boat "Columbia," carrying seventeen or eighteen comrades from the county seat, with national airs from the Berwick Cornet Band and escorted them by a circuitous route to the St. Charles where they whet their appetites with tales of former feasts and past privations. Heralded by multitudes of harmonizing scents, supper was announced. Chairs were taken at nine and not deserted till half past eleven, so good was Landlord Sponenberg's bill of fare, and so hard did W. J. Scott, toastmaster of the evening, press the members of the Legion for experiences, songs, and anecdotes. That these were amusing was evidenced by the frequent stamping of feet. Not the least interesting of the remarks of the evening were those made by the toastmaster himself who is a raconteur of no mean ability. During the evening R. C. Buckalew was presented with a souvenir walking-stick, gayly decorated with the national colors which he will ever prize as a memento of the occasion. He says he will remember Mr. Sponenberg on Christmas.

Altogether a very pleasant evening was spent, concluding with the parting song, "Auld Lang Syne." These gatherings to the stay-at-home are seemingly devoid of interest and without warrant. To those who have borne the brunt of battle, who have fought shoulder to shoulder for God and native land these meetings bring back to the heart the light of other days and crown the present with the halo of the past.

We append a list of those present:

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

Successful Deer-Slayers.

The best deer-shooting of the season falls to the lot of two coastside men. One is a Portuguese laborer on a farm just above the Alpine school house. The morning the deer law opened he came upon four bucks, and when the smoke of four shots from his Winchester cleared away he was the captor of three of them. The other fortunate person is the son of Post-master Thompson, of Harrison, near Pescadero. This young gentleman aimed at a large buck one day, and after seeing him drop went to get his game. He was surprised to find that his bullet after passing through the back of the buck he aimed at entered the head of another a short distance beyond, thus killing two at one shot. These are facts that can be substantiated. — San Mateo (Cal.) Leader.

Root and Branch,

the poison in your blood, however it may have come or whatever shape it may be taking, is cleared away by Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a remedy that rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands, and the worst Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, are perfectly and permanently cured by it.

Unlike the ordinary Spring medicines or sarsaparillas, the "Discovery" works equally well at all seasons. All the year round and in all cases, it is Guaranteed, as no other blood medicine is. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get.

Isn't it safer to say that no other blood-purifier can be "just as good?"

It it were, wouldn't it be sold so?

Mark Twain's Latest—Romance of an Esquimau Maiden.

A magazine is usually satisfied with one strong feature for the month. The Cosmopolitan, however, presents for November no less than five very unusual ones. William Dean Howells gives the first of the letters of the traveller, who has been visiting this country, from Altruria. We have read Mr. Howells' impression of the Altrurian; but in this first letter we have the Altrurian's impressions of New York, with some comments upon our government and society, calculated to awaken the most conservative minds. The second feature of the Cosmopolitan is the portion of the magazine given up to color work, no less than ten superb color illustrations being presented for the first time in magazine history, accompanying an article by Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, on "Changes in Women's Costumes." The third feature is "American Notes," by Walter Besant, who was recently in America and is doing the United States for the Cosmopolitan a la Dickens. The fourth feature is an article by General Badeau on "The Forms of Invitation Used by the English Nobility." The article is illustrated by the facsimile of cards to the Queen's drawing-room, to dinner at the Princess of Wales, and to many leading houses of England. Finally, we have a new and very curious story by Mark Twain, called "The Esquimau Maiden's Romance." It is in his happiest vein and is illustrated by Dan Beard. The November number presents the work of many artists, among whom are: C. S. Reinhart, Otto Guillonnet, J. H. Harper, G. Hudson, Franz von Lenbach, George Wharton Edwards, F. Schuyler Matthews, Dan Beard, W. L. Sontag, Jr., F. G. Attwood, C. Hirschberg, J. Habert-Dys, August Franzen, Louis J. Read, J. N. Hutchins and Hamilton Gibson.

A Funny State of Affairs.

A very funny state of affairs is revealed in England through a suit brought concerning depredations by rabbits. The rabbits came out of a wood and destroyed a field of barley. The owner of the crop sued the owner of the wood for damages. It was decided that the plaintiff was not entitled to damages unless the defendant had by artificial propagation increased the number of rabbits on his land to such an extent as to be a nuisance. He was not liable, even though he had increased the number of rabbits by killing off their enemies. The only remedy in possession of the man who lost his barley was to kill the rabbits which came upon the place. But this has to be done with due regard to a somewhat complicated game law. The killing must be done by the farmer or by one member of his household commissioned by him in writing or "employed for reward to kill rabbits." In killing the rabbits the use of poisons or spring guns is prohibited, and fire-arms cannot be used at night.—N. Y. Telegram.

Curious Showers.

M. Peltier has put a frog shower on record as having happened within his own experience. He speaks of seeing the frogs fall on the roofs of the houses and rebound thence on to the pavement below. A mud shower occurred along the Union Pacific Railroad at Onago on the 4th of April, 1892. The rain, we are assured, commenced early in the day, and soon, the south and east side of all the houses were covered with yellow clay.

A Union Pacific train which ran through the storm had its windows covered, and the headlight was so completely plastered that the light was shut in and the train ran in darkness into Roseville, where the mud had to be scraped off. As far as Topeka the windows showed that the edge of the mudstorm had extended this far. It is said to have been even more severe fifty miles northwest.

Blood rain and black rain are only varieties of this phenomenen. Of the latter we hear nothing worth speaking of nowadays, but an almost historic shower of this sort fell at Montreal in the earlier part of this century and enveloped the then youthful city in a black pall, which must have been worse than a prime London fog, seeing that it gave the inhabitants the idea that the last day had come, or was at least on the point of coming.

"Blood" rain is caused by the presence of infinitely little planets, animalcules, or minerals in the globules. In one instance of a shower that fell at Bristol and in the Bristol Channel, the analytical examination showed that the red color was due to ivy-berry seeds. In medieval times blood rain was a prodigy. In the East it was connected with the belief that man was produced from blood that fell from heaven.—Chamber's Journal.

WARREN A. REED PHILADELPHIA

The New Reading Terminal Station.

One of the sights of the Quaker City is the handsome Terminal Station of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, at Twelfth and Market streets, which is now fully thrown open to the public and is without exception the most beautifully appointed railway terminus in the world. The interior decorations are simply superb. Not only are they designed on a scale of grandeur, but they are conspicuous for exquisite taste and comfort. The lower floor entrance lobby is handsome and roomy, with concrete floor and panelled ceiling. A broad stairway and rapid and roomy elevators lead to the waiting rooms above at the level of the elevated tracks. The ticket offices on the first floor are the most conveniently arranged in the country, and are the result of the experience of General Passenger Agent Hancock and his able lieutenants. The screens of grill and brass work inclosing the ticket offices are artistic to a degree that is seldom seen in a public building. But the waiting rooms, restaurant, etc., on the second floor are the feature of the structure. They are so daintily decorated and sumptuously furnished that they resemble more the audience halls or reception rooms of some potentate's palace than the public waiting-room of a railroad company. Inlaid flooring, velvet carpets, great easy chairs, nickle plated steam pipes, marble furnished lavatories, rich and elegant hangings and daintily tinted walls and frescoed ceilings, make a combination rarely seen except in the palaces of the wealthy and great. The Reading Terminal Station is in every respect a pleasant surprise to the public. Gentlemen who have travelled all over the world, state that the new station contains the finest waiting rooms on the face of the globe. Philadelphia is naturally proud of the new edifice as it is far in advance of anything of a similar kind in this country or abroad. Its ornamentations and handsome furnishings are an attraction to thousands of visitors, and an object lesson in decorative art. The upper part of the building is used by the executive and clerical force of the Company, and nearly all the various officials have already occupied quarters therein. The building is one of the sights of the city.

FRESH SNAKE STORIES.

Artistic Lies Told by Farmers Whose Crops Are Now Safe.

With the coming of the equinoctial storm Dutchess county, (N. Y.) farmers get a chance to sit down and think over the incidents of the past summer, and from reports so far received the crop of snake stories is fully up to the average. "Pop" Ball, of Podunk Hollow, the best judge of whisky on the whole of Bog Ridge, comes to the front with a series of remarkable talks, which are vouched for by his nearest neighbor, "Squar" Reach. He says that on the 4th of last July, shortly after sun-up, while he was catching trout out of Johns' brook by the old-fashioned method of tickling them under the belly, he saw a mammoth water snake mesmerize a toad, getting the latter so completely under his control that when he finally swallowed him the victim did not so much a wink the other eye. The toad, as "Pop" Ball tells the story, was sitting on the bank of Jones' brook, ruminating over a particularly delicious insect it had just enveloped, when his snakeship cautiously poked his glossy nose from beneath the swamp grass near by and fixed his beaded optics on the toad. Both remained perfectly quiet for several minutes, when the toad began to twitch, and a slimy substance oozed from its skin. The convulsions passed over in a few minutes, when the snake slowly wriggled up to its prey and in the course of half an hour had completely swallowed it. "Pop" Ball, in the presence of "Squar" Reach, killed the snake and released the toad, which was none the worse for its entanglement.

Along about the latter part of August "Pop" killed a blacksnake in Reach's meadow which had a two pound and a half bullhead stuck in its throat by its horns, which penetrated the skin on both sides and were plainly visible on the outside of the reptile. But the most remarkable snake that "Pop" came across was at Bullis' pond early in September. It was a milksnake and lay under a pile of old logs which "Pop" pulled down in search of dry tinder for a camp fire. When the first log was disturbed the snake glided out, followed by eleven young ones, who, to "Pop's" amazement, disappeared down their mother's throat. That same day, under the dam at Bullis' pond, "Pop" captured a pound and a half trout with a "coachman," and hanging to the trout's tail was a watersnake three feet long. He believes that the snake grabbed the trout just as the latter made a dash for the fly.

RACE FOR A BRIDE.

The Poor Man Won the Prize After a Desperate Pull.

Miss Annie Story is the daughter of Col. H. F. Story. She is very beautiful. Col. Story lives at Yorkville, Ga., and is a leading man in Paulding county. Miss Annie had many admirers, but could not decide between Andrew McBrayer and David Govan. Finally she sent for the minister and the two young men. She told the rivals that the one who would come back to her first with a marriage license should be her husband, both men to leave Yorkville at the same time and to ride to Dallas, the county seat. The young men were well mounted, and the distance was nineteen miles.

The race was a hot one. McBrayer, the rich lover, reached the ordinary first, and secured a license before Govan appeared. The latter came a moment afterward, hurriedly explained things to the ordinary, and also secured a license. In a few moments he was also on his way back to Yorkville. The race became sharp. Govan was desperate because McBrayer was the better mounted.

Miss Story, her father and the minister waited on the front piazza for the racing rivals. McBrayer was first seen. He was excited, and far down the road it was noticed that his horse was nearly exhausted. The race seemed his. He was nearing the gate. In a moment Govan appeared in a by-path. He was two hundred yards ahead of McBrayer. He first reached the piazza and won the prize. He had taken a short cut through the woods. The ceremony was performed and McBrayer gracefully acknowledged defeat and joined in the marriage festivities.

For County Auditors,
W. A. DREISBACH.
J. F. HARKINS.

For County Surveyor.
C. H. MOORE.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF COLUMBIA COUNTY.

This is what is generally spoken of as an off year in Politics or in other words, a year when you are not called upon to vote for a high State or Federal officer and as a rule, when this is the case, too many of you are apt to stay at home and not do your duty by going to the Polls and voting. I appeal to you to make this year an exception to the rule and not only go to the Polls yourself, but see that your neighbor goes. Be sure to go on next Tuesday and vote the straight Democratic Ticket. This is very easily done under the new Law. All you have to do is to place a cross (X) within the circle at the head of the second column on the Ticket. Do not forget that the Democratic Ticket is the second column and that a single cross in the circle at the head of the column will vote the whole Ticket. Do not attempt to scratch the Ticket and you will not get mixed up.

Vote the straight Ticket. An unusual thing in Columbia county Politics is an independent Candidate. At the Delegate election there were four Candidates for county Treasurer, only one of which could possibly win in the convention, the other three according to all rules and customs agreeing to abide by the decision of the convention. Mr. Dewitt came in third in the race but now does not feel inclined to abide by the decision of the convention, hence is running as an independent. It is beyond all reason for Mr. Dewitt to go to his fellow Democrats and ask their support when there is a regularly nominated Candidate, Mr. Fowler, already upon the Ticket. I ask you again to vote the straight Ticket and nothing but the straight Ticket.

J. H. MERCER,
Chairman.

VOTE THE STRAIGHT TICKET.

Every democrat in the county who has the good of his party at heart, will cast his ballot next Tuesday for every candidate on the Democratic ticket. All that is necessary is to mark a cross in the circle at the head of the Democratic column, the second column on the printed ballot. There is no reason whatever why any democrat should vote any other way, and there is every reason why all should vote that way. There is no charge of fraud or unfairness either at the delegate election or at the county convention, and if candidates thus nominated are not to be supported at the general election, there is no use of keeping up a party organization, for should an independent candidate be successful this year, the probabilities are that next year other persons defeated for the nomination would file nomination papers, and thus cause endless trouble. There will be no difficulty at any time for such persons to secure a sufficient number of republicans to sign their nomination papers to have their names printed on the ticket, "just to make trouble for the democrats." Do not encourage this, but vote the straight ticket, and teach a lesson to bolters that will be remembered. J. R. Fowler is the regular nominee for county treasurer. Jos. P. Dewitt is a bolter.

Mayor Harrison Assassinated.

SHOT DOWN IN HIS OWN HOUSE BY A MAN SUPPOSED TO BE INSANE.

Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, was shot in his home by a man named Prendergast on Saturday evening. William P. Harrison, the Mayor's son, has given the following account of the tragedy:

"I came home at seven o'clock Saturday evening," he said, "very anxious to see father, as I had an article for the Times that I wished to read to him before publication. Dinner was just being served at the time, and while he and my sister Sophie were eating I read this article to him. It took me about twenty-five minutes, as he frequently interrupted me, making suggestions as to words and expressions that were used. Having finished reading, we began to discuss the political situation in Illinois. The conversation lagged for a few minutes. I started to say something, when looking up I saw my father dozing in his chair. This was a frequent habit with him. His head was bent forward, and while looking at him I was particularly struck with the fatigued expression of his eyes. Sister Sophie had already gone up stairs. I went directly to my room on the second floor.

HEARD THE SHOT.

"As near as I can remember it was 4.45 o'clock when I left father dozing in his chair. I had been in my room about fifteen minutes when I heard a terrific sound. It greatly startled me. My first thought was that something had fallen and that the repetition or constant succession of sounds was due to the reverberation through the house. I rushed down stairs, and as I heard a pistol shot apparently in my father's bedroom. I found the hall full of smoke, the front door opened and our coachman standing in the middle of the hall with a revolver in his hand pointing directly at me, and I heard my father's voice crying, 'Oh, I am shot.'

"Never stopping running, and knowing instinctively that a murder had been attempted, I called to the coachman to chase and shoot the murderer, and then ran into the parlor, the dining room, and the library, looking for my father. Not finding him a feeling of dread came over me. I rushed into the kitchen and found the servants shrieking at the top of their voices. Rushing to the kitchen, I entered a passageway which connects the dining room and the kitchen, and found my father lying on his back in the passageway with his feet toward the dining room. I was at once by his side, raised him, and holding his head in my arms, asked him what had happened.

"Oh, Willie, Willie,' he exclaimed, I am shot, I am shot, I am dying!'

"I tried my best to reassure him, honestly thinking from the calm expression of his face that he could not be seriously hurt. He repeated his assertion, saying: "No, I'm dying."

THE DOCTORS SUMMONED.

"Up to this time I had not taken my eyes off his face, but glancing down, I saw a blood stain on his shirt, showing that the bullet had entered his abdomen. I also saw a black blood clot in his hand, which was lying by his side, and knew a bullet had struck him there also.

"'Father, I'll go for a doctor,' I said.

"'It's no use,' he replied. Get Annie (Miss Howard) over at once.'"

"I ran to the door, and seeing a man pass on a bicycle, called out to him to go and get Dr. Lyman.

"Meantime, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers, coming out of their home opposite, having heard the shots, were looking across the street, when I called out to them that my father had been shot. Mr. Chalmers and I ran back to father together. Mr. Chalmers said, 'Go for a doctor.'

"Without a hat, I think, I ran down Jackson boulevard, hoping to find Dr. Wasburne. I saw him and hurried back to my father, and found Mrs. Chalmers, some doctors, and several persons surrounding him. I heard Mr. Chalmers say to him, 'Mr. Harrison, you are only shot in the stomach.'

"My father replied: 'No, I'm dying; I am shot through the heart.'

"I think father was conscious about ten or twelve minutes, and lived altogether twenty or twenty-two minutes after being shot. As long as he was conscious I am certain he did not suffer; but it seemed to me during the last few minutes from his expression, that he did suffer; but, thank God, he was unconscious."

Cannibal King.—"I don't see why I shouldn't eat you."

Missionary—"I don't agree with you."

Medicine Man—"Take a dose of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills after the meal, sire."

Fashionable Livery.

The well known horseman has opened a fashionable livery in connection with his boarding stable at the Exchange Hotel Stables, where fine turnouts can be obtained, single or double. He has well broken and safe saddle and driving horses for ladies, all at reasonable rates. Orders left at the Exchange Hotel will receive prompt attention. Drivers furnished when desired.

FREE SILVER IS DEAD

The Wilson Bill as Amended Passed By the Senate.

The Vote Was 43 to 32, With Five Pairs—The Bill to Be Returned to the House To-day, and Speedy Action is Expected By That Body—The Vote in Detail—Adjournment the Important Subject Now.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The long conflict in the senate over the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act came to an end last night with a victory on the side of repeal. The vote on the passage of the bill as amended (that is, of the Voorhees substitute) was yeas, 43; nays, 32.

There was no exultation or excitement of any kind over the result, but there was probably a feeling of relief on all sides that the end of the struggle had been reached.

The Vote in Detail.

Following is the vote in detail:

Yeas—Messrs. Aldrich, Brice, Caffery, Camden, Carey, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Hunton, Lindsay, Lodge, McMillan, McPherson, Manderson, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Morrill, Murphy, Platt, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Squire, Stockbridge, Turpie, Vilas, Voorhees, Washburn and White (La.)—43.

Nays—Messrs. Allen, Bate, Berry, Butler, Blackburn, Call, Cameron, Cockrell, Coke, Daniel, Dubois, George, Harris, Irby, Jones (Ark.), Jones (Nev.), Kyle, Martin, Pasco, Peffer, Perkins, Pettigrew, Power, Pugh, Roach, Shoup, Stewart, Teller, Vance, Vest, Walthall and Wolcott—32.

The following were the pairs:

Messrs. Mitchell (Oregon) and Allison; Chandler and White (Cal.); Colquitt and Wilson; Palmer and Hansbrough; Gordon and Morgan.

What the House May Do.

To-day the secretary of the senate will appear at the bar of the house with a message informing that body that the bill has been passed, with an amendment, and requesting the concurrence of the house in that amendment. The message and bill may remain on the speaker's desk until it is convenient to have it laid before the body; or it may be referred to a committee; or the senate amendment may be concurred in without reference to any committee, and by a direct vote of the house.

Not only was the repeal bill finally brought to a termination yesterday, but so also was the abnormally long legislative day of Tuesday, the 17th of October. The senate will meet to-day at noon, and the session will be opened with prayer and the usual formalities.

Now Talking Adjournment.

Now that the final stage of the repeal bill has been reached, senators are beginning to talk about getting away from the city. Silver democrats when asked about adjournment say they understand the administration is favorable to an adjournment, and presume this programme will be carried out.

Some Favor a Recess.

An attempt is being made, however, to have congress take a recess, and this plan has a respectable number of advocates among senators. Nov. 20 was spoken of as a probable date this morning, it being expected that the house committee on ways and means would be ready to support the bill by that time.

Some senators, especially those from southern states, held that it would be better to remain and go ahead with legislation. Senator Voorhees is taking no part in the matter of adjournment, but content to encompass the repeal of the Sherman law, is leaving this subject to be disposed of by others.

DEMANDED $5,000.

A Harmless Crank Calls on Edwin Gould in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A crank put in an appearance at the office of George and Edwin Gould yesterday afternoon and refused to leave until he had made a demand for $5,000.

He did not threaten violence, but was led away by a detective and placed under arrest as a matter of precaution.

The man is a telegraph operator and evidently meant no harm to Mr. Gould.

Fear Heavy Losses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Beecher, Schenck & Co., managers of the American casualty insurance company, have transferred their interests in the concern to three trustees. It is said that there are no less than $8,000,000 in damages for which railroad companies are being sued, and which, in case of judgement against them, the American casualty company will have to pay.

Liabilities Exceed Assets.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 31.—At a meeting of the creditors of M. R. Richardson & Co., shoe manufacturers, the assets were reported to be $19,936 and the liabilities $64,656. It is said that neither of the members of the firm has any attachable property.

Another Bicycle Record Broken.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 31.—Zimmerman rode a third of a mile at Charter Oak park yesterday afternoon in 35 seconds, breaking the record by two seconds.

Singer Works Closed for a Week.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 31.—The Singer sewing machine works closed last night for one week on account of the breaking of some machinery.

Another Boat for Brazil.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The fast steam yacht Javelin has been bought by the Brazilian authorities and will be transformed into a torpedo boat.

For Evicted Tenants.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—Archbishop Walsh has subscribed £50 the fund for evicted tenants.

Good and Reliable

Hood's Cured Malaria and Loss of Appetite.

The following letter is from a gentleman widely known in the section of Philadelphia where he lives, being a member of the I. O. O. F., Red Men, Order of Tonti, and the Republican Club, and a popular speaker in public meetings:

"I dare say that I am more glad in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla than its proprietors are in selling it. I took it for malaria and loss of appetite, and the fact that we have continued to use it in our family is sufficient evidence of our confidence in its efficacy. My food tastes better and relishes more naturally. My wife and daughter say Hood's Sarsaparilla has also very much improved my complexion. We regard it good and reliable, and recommend it to all of our friends." JAMES JOHNSON, 551 E. Indiana Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

A REMINDER.

It is a long time since we have said anything about unpaid subscriptions, but when our books show thousands of dollars outstanding that we ought to have, and need constantly in our business, it is pardonable if we use these columns occasionally to remind those who owe us, that a newspaper cannot be published on wind. There are some who owe for three years or more, and who pay no attention to statements sent by mail. To such, notice is now given that their accounts must be settled before January 1st. If not paid by that time, they will be charged $1.50 a year, and costs may be made. All who owe for one, two or three years are respectfully requested to call and settle, at $1.00 a year. After an account is three years old it is liable to be charged at the rate of $1.50 a year, as that is the price when not paid in advance. We are compelled to give this notice because of the large sums due us that are scattered all over the county, and as there is certainly nothing unreasonable in the request, we trust that it will meet with a cheerful response.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Interesting Items From Various Points the County, Reported by Our Staff of Correspondents

JERSEYTOWN.

Greenly brothers are doing a fine business at their new mill.

A. C. Heller, W. E. Laidacker and W. C. Dildine had a long trip Sunday last on their wheels, starting from Jerseytown at 9 30 A. M., going from there to Millville, Pine Summit, Lairdsville, Hughesville, Picture Rocks, Highland Lake, and returning to Picture Rocks, Hughesville, Muncy, Turbotville, Exchange, White Hall, reaching home at 8 P. M., a distance of seventy five miles, over the roughest roads of the county. Good for the boys.

A straw party was given Miss Lizzie, Gertrude and Herman Smith on Wednesday evening. The guests were Miss Helen Warner, Miss May and Nettie Smith, Miss Kreamer, Miss Welliver, Miss Kinlin and Miss Jennie Beckley, of Philadelphia, Pa., H. W. Terwilliger, A. C. Heller, C. W. Whitmire, T. Kinlin, H. Smith and J. Kreamer.

J. H. Henrie is laying in a large stock of coal.

There must be some very strong attraction for W. E. Laidacker near Watsontown as he makes his rounds regular once a week on his wheel. Elmer, what will you do when the roads get bad?

Charley Wagner is firing for Greenly Bros, in their new mill.

County Superintendent W. C. Johnston is building a fine house at this place.

FORKS.

Hon. Chas. R. Buckalew visited us lately, and it appears the wire bridge will be a "consummation devoutly to be wished." The bridge will be a reality in the near future. There has been some tall kicking about this bridge, spanning the Fishing creek above the old bridge that leads to Orangeville, Jonestown, Asbury, &c. There should be a terminus to this bridge business and it is hoped that the wire bridge will be built, or the R. R. station removed in close proximity to the old bridge as the public needs one or the other, pretty soon—the majority says, let the R. R. station be lowered down to the old road bridge.

The missionary meeting on last Saturday night at Zion's Church, was exceedingly interesting. There was a good attendance considering there were protracted services during the week. The communion services Sabbath morning were finely attended and Rev. Mr. Houtz preached a very appropriate sermon upon the occasion.

Mr. Laubach has pressed out at least 250 bbls. of cider this fall, up to date. Orchards have been fully represented from above Jonestown and near New Columbus, and a large territory of this section. The preparing for the press is done in short order by the latest scientific process. His new lawn around his elegant home appears well from the seed he has sown.

Jas. Geisinger was unanimously elected Vice President of the Missionary Society on Saturday eve. last at Zion's church.

Capt. Gara is fast recovering from a serious fall he received on the R. R. bridge that spans the Fishingcreek.

Al. Amerman is now spending a vacation at his father's home from the Jackson & Woodin works at Berwick.

Jno. Henry is at home on a short vacation from the Berwick Jackson & Woodin works.

WALLER.

Miss Sadie Kile and Mr. Charles Ertwine of Divide, were married last week by Elder Maltman of Benton. After the ceremony they took the train for a bridal tour, returning on Saturday evening. They found a sumptuous wedding supper prepared, and later on, just as many old tin horns, cow bells, saws and in fact, everything that it takes to make up a good old fashioned country drumming.

Rev. Runyon of Benton, and Rev. Minsker of this place have been holding a series of meetings in the Union church, which have resulted in several conversions and it is to be hoped has created more of a union sentiment among the people of this vicinity. There is no use of trying to make a heaven out of this cold earth, but there is no use in trying to make it better and a more agreeable and pleasant place to live May success and happiness attend the efforts of all such, whether they be found behind the plow, before the flaming forge, behind the counter, at the bar of justice, or in the pulpit. This is a profession that is never overcrowded, recompense always safe and sure, can be learned at home, and is the best preventative of sourness in the face or heart that this world ever knew.

W. L. Yorks Esq., is on a ten days' business trip to Meadville, Crawford Co. The Farmer's Alliance sent him as their delegate to the State Alliance which met at that place.

Within a radius of five miles four new M. E. Churches are being built, three in Columbia and one in Lycoming county. Some of them are nearly completed.

Mr. B. F. Fritz returned home this week after a ten days' visit at the World's Fair.

Elder Maltman welcomed four to membership of the Christian church last Sunday afternoon, three of whom he baptized Tuesday evening.

Measles and whooping cough is running at large in this community, frightening some and sickening many more.

Bishop Bowman of the majority faction of the Evangelical church is expected to preach here some evening this week.

Flying snowflakes are getting to be quite a common thing already this fall and the farmers are hurrying up with their work so the snow will not get ahead of them. The corn is considerably more than half husked, although some of course think there is plenty of time and leave their fields barely touched.

ESPY.

Protracted meeting services began on Sunday last, in the M. E. Church.

Bert Miller recently purchased the milk shake apparatus of K. S. Creasy, and is now prepared to hand out milk shake in connection with his root beer.

Ira Creasy of Shickshinny, drove down to visit his parents at this place on Sunday last.

Mrs. E. D. Hagenbuch and son of Lightstreet, made a short visit in town on Monday.

James Fowler was taken with another paralytic stroke on Monday. He is however, doing very well at this writing.

Newton Baker started on his last trip of the season down the canal, on Monday.

Master Harry Dietterich has been confined to the house with a sore throat.

Miss Cora Hagenbuch of Briarcreek, spent Sunday in town, visiting among friends.

The regular monthly entertainment of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held this Saturday evening in the Lutheran Church.

Miss Anna McKamey spent the past week in Bloomsburg.

A number of our towns people will see Keliar this Friday evening.

Harry Abbott who has been travelling for several years past, together with his wife, have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Abbott for some time.

Dr. Redeker returned from the World's Fair on Monday.

Arthur Hartman has been confined to the house by sickness.

LIGHT STREET.

As is the usual custom on Hallow E'en the boys and girls indulged in a little corn throwing upon our streets.

What might have proven a fatal accident to team and man on Friday night last was only prevented by one horse being freed from the wagon at the railing across the road at Melicks run, the other horse pulling the wagon sideway caused it to upset. An accident caused by the taking of too much "Indian fire water."

Albert Dent of Buckhorn and Miss Mary Lee were married on Thursday of last week, at Buckhorn.

John Raup returned from a trip to Easton last week.

Mrs. Hettie Kelchner is visiting at John Kelchner's, Shamokin.

Loyd Kahler and family of Wilmington, Illinois, spent a couple days at Jacob Terwilliger's a short time ago.

John Shew took a flying trip to Maryland this week.

H. E. Heacock has sold the property occupied by himself to Morris Keller.

The farmers are getting along very nicely with their corn husking; some have finished entirely.

Irvin & Hoffman expect to move their saw mill to Northumberland in the near future.

The mason work is nearly completed at the new bridge, and will be ready for travel by the last of the week.

The school board of Scott school district have hired janitors for the schools.

CENTRAL.

News in Central is scarce, all seem to be storing preparatory for winter. thinking of the hard one we had last winter.

One of Elias Shultz' little girls broke her arm while playing at school; it was promptly attended to and she will soon be out again.

Messrs. Yorks & Hummer have moved to Elk Grove, on tract bought of C. E. Yorks & Co., where their lumber business will be continued for some time. Messrs. Kocher & Cole have also moved on the job.

Our merchants Lorah and Herring are doing quite good considering the times.

Jamison City, well everything was thought to be all right, work had started and all was again in good spirits, when the new stack was seen to be leaning, and continued to lean more and more, until the company decided to draw the fires and take it down, which was done successfully. The loss of brick will be about 25 per cent—quite a number witnessed it fall.

The saw mill is running part time; all hope to see the city boom again.

C. E. Yorks, the popular city butcher has been prospecting along Elk run, and has found some very nice smooth flag stone. This would give work to quite a number and hope it may be successfully opened up.

Frank Masteller is still on the look out for more bears; says he has good signs.

The deer belonging at the Proctor Inn was found to be outside its inclosure, it had not far to go to be at liberty again. Several went to look for it. Finally Will Vansickle shot it. A slicker and fatter deer will not be killed in these parts this year.

The wisest course in politics is to vote for the best man, and you cannot be mistaken. So, in the use of blood-purifiers, you can't be mistaken if you take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because all parties agree that it is the best—the Superior Medicine. Try it this month.

FAREWELL TO THE FAIR

The Great Exposition Now a Part of History.

Thousands of Visitors Wait for the Signal Guns and Watch the Lowering of the Flags on All the Buildings—An Impressive Scene.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—In harmony with the World's fair city's sorrow came the closing of the World's Columbian exposition as directed by the United States congress.

At sunset, last evening, the colors of all nations which have been flying at half-mast since sunrise on Sunday were lowered together as they were unfurled within sight of President Cleveland at noon on May 1st last.

Six months with the exception of a day have passed and the glory of the exposition has been woven into history of the world's progress.

At the word of command from artillery officers the guns of a battery facing Lake Michigan belched forth a signa, itelling the word that the World's fair was dying with the setting sun, dying while dirges were being sung and tears shed and heads were bowed in grief over the bier of Chicago's murdered mayor.

Awaiting the Signal.

When the sunset hour arrive d a hundred men stationed at the various flag staffs of the nation's colors on the departmental buildings stood ready to lower the flags and bare the poles which should tell to the visitors to-day that the Columbian exposition was at an end forever.

It was an impressive scene and the thousands of visitors who viewed the closing spectacle could not refrain from sighing and regretting that the exposition was at an end.

The only music which was heard outside of festival hall came from the Innis 13th regiment band, which played in the court of honor during the afternoon.

The Farewell Air.

While the noise of the cannon was heard on the lake front and the flags on the palaces of the vanishing city were being furled, the New York band waited to play the farewell to the fair.

The last flag to be pulled down from its staff was one of the three facing the court of honor from the administration building. The hands which pulled it down were those of the World's fair newspaper men and as Old Glory reached the ground a great cheer and a tiger arose in the evening air.

Only a Part of History Now.

While the last flag in the exposition was being pulled to the ground in the court of honor, the New York band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and concluded with "America." A cheer went up from the thousands assembled within hearing of the patriotic strains and after the sound of the bugle from administration building the the World's fair became a part of history.

In Festival hall the memorial programme was carried out in the afternoon as announced.

Russia's Army Increased.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A special despatch to the Standard from St. Petersburg says that a ukase has been issued ordering the formation of fifteen new reserve brigades. The formation of these brigades will be equivalent to an immediate increase of the army to a war footing by the addition of 150,000 men. It is a noteworthy fact that the Official Journal does not publish the ukase.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Money and Stocks.

WALL STREET, NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Money on call is easy at 2 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper 5a7 per cent.

Sterling exchange is firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.80 1-4 for 60 days, and 4.83 1-2 for demand; posted rates 4.81 1-2a4.84 1-4; commercial bills 4.79 1-2 a3-4 for 60 days, and 4.82 1-4a1-2 on demand.

Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $72,318,868; balances, $6,604,088. The sub-treasury was $517,184 debtor at the Clearing house.

The Mercantile Safe Deposit company reports silver bullion on hand 155,312 ounces; deposits none; withdrawn none; certificates outstanding 154; bar silver 69 3-4; Mexican dollars 57. Government bonds have been steady. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds strong.

The impression prevailed in professional circles this morning that the advance in stocks has run its course, at least for the time being, and that a substantial reaction is due. Brokers who usually execute orders for Cammack and other leading bear operators were very active, and under sales for their account prices fell 1-2 to 3 1-2 per cent. Lackawanna fell 2 1-2 to 168 1-2, Whisky 1 7-8 to 33 3-8, New England 2 1-4 to 32 1-4, Western Union 1 5-8 to 92 1-4, General Electric 2 1-4 to 48 1-4, St. Paul 1 7-8 to 66 7-8, Rock Island 1 1-4 to 71 1-4, Burlington & Quincy 1 3-8 to 86 1-8, and Manhattan 2 1-2 to 132 1-4. Sellers were confident that the good effect of the early passage of the silver repeal law had been discounted for the present.

Produce Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Wheat—Dull, steady. Receipts, 409,225 bu. Nov., 66 1-2a66 1-4; Dec., 71 1-4a72 1-4; Jan., 72 1-2a73 1-4; Feb., 71 1-8; May, 76 3-8a76 7-8.

Corn—Dull, steady. Receipts, 120,000 bu. Nov., 46 5-8a47; Dec., 47 1-8a47 3-8; May, 49 1-8a49 1-4.

Oats—Dull, firm. Receipts, 129,500 bu. Nov., 33 1-2a33 7-8; Dec., 35 1-8a34 1-4; May, 35 1-8.

Cheese—Firm, quiet. State large white and colored, 9a11 3-8; do. fancy, 11a11 3-8; do. small, 10 1-2a12; part skims, 4a9 1-2; full skims, 2a3 1-2.

Eggs—Quiet, easy. State and Pennsylvania, 22 1-2a23 1-2; Western, 22a23.

WITH FITTING CEREMONY.

Arrangements Completed for the Funeral of Chicago's Murdered Mayor.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—With all the manifestations of sorrow and regret shown by a great city to its murdered executive the remains of Carter H. Harrison will be borne on Wednesday to the beautiful city of the dead on the northern outskirts of the city.

By general consent, although there is no one in authority to issue the necessary proclamation, business throughout the city will be generally suspended. All public and many private buildings will be draped with emblems of woe.

The procession itself will be long and imposing, including many civic, fraternal and semi-military bodies.

This morning the casket containing the remains will be conveyed in a hearse, under proper escort, to the city hall, where in the centre of the rotunda it will be placed on a magnificent catafalque, where it will lie in state until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Promptly at that hour the doors will be closed and the casket, under escort, will be returned to the house on Ashland avenue.

Here for the brief space of half an hour the members of the bereaved family will be left alone with their honored dead.

In the meantime the funeral procession will form on the boulevard fronting the residence, and at 12 o'clock the remains will be borne to the Protestant Episcopal church of the Epiphany at Ashland avenue and Adams street, where the services will be held. After the benediction has been pronounced the procession will be reformed, and this time headed by a band will take up the march to Graceland cemetery.

SIR JOHN ABBOTT DEAD.

The Ex-Premier Passes Away in Montreal Last Night.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Sir John Abbott, ex-Premier of Canada, died at 9 o'clock last night. His end was peaceful.

John Joseph Caldwell Abbott was the son of an Anglican clergyman who settled in St. Andrews, county of Argenteuil, Quebec, in the early years of the century. He was born in 1821 and entered public life as a member of the old Canadian assembly in 1853. In 1862 he held office as solicitor general. In 1864 he introduced and fought through the house the "Insolvent Act," his masterpiece of legislation. This measure greatly added to his reputation as a lawyer and a legislator and in 1867, upon confederation, Mr. Abbott was returned to the house of commons. Then followed the Pacific scandal and the defeat of the government in which he shared. But he soon recovered public favor and was again elected to the house, serving through the parliament of 1883-87. Subsequently he was elected to the senate and was made premier upon the death of Sir John Macdonald, two years ago. After serving a short time he retired because of ill-health and has since lived in Montreal.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S APPOINTMENT

He is Very Wealthy and Related By Marriage to Ambassador Van Alen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—James Roosevelt Roosevelt, who was yesterday nominated by President Cleveland to be secretary of the embassy of the United States at London, England, is a son-in-law of the late William Astor and consequently is related by marriage to Mr. James J. Van Alen, recently appointed minister to Italy.

He is a man of independent fortune.

Mr. Roosevelt served for three years as secretary of the American legation in Vienna during President Cleveland's first term. He has lived abroad during the greater portion of his life.

The new secretary was well known for his hospitality while at Vienna, and gave many costly entertainments.

THEY LOOSE THEIR DIAMONDS.

Uncle Sam Gets Possession of a Valuable Lot of Smuggled Gems.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The trial of Eugene and Jennie Leroux came up before Judge Benedict in the United States court, Brooklyn, yesterday.

The Lerouxs are defendants in a suit brought by the custom authorities for the possession of $16,000 worth of jewelry which is alleged to have been smuggled from France by them or their friend, Alexander Flamant.

Judge Benedict directed the jury in the case of the Custom house authorities against Jennie Leroux to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff.

CHICAGO'S DILEMMA.

Without an Executive and Does Not Know How to Get One.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—It was with no disrespect to the dead executive, but in the interest of a matter of grave importance, that an exhaustive search was made yesterday into the charter law of the city with the hope of finding some provision providing for temporarily filling the vacancy in the mayoralty, but without success.

The city is thefore confronted at this time with a situation most serious, and one that may lead to no end of complications.

The corporation counsel agrees that the city council must call a special election at once.

No Secret Treaty With Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Secretary Gresham was seen to-day regarding a rumor from Rio De Janeiro to the effect that a secret treaty had been signed between the United States and Brazil. He stated that there was no truth in the report.

Issue of Silver Coin.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints and treasury offices for the week ended Oct. 28, 1893, was $975,745; for the corresponding period of 1892, $835,442.

Stenographer Yerrington Dead.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—J. M. W. Yerrington, the widely known court stenographer, died last evening at his home in Chelsea. He was 68 years of age and was a native of Providence, R. I.

Crew Saved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The British steamer Victoria which arrived this morn from Trieste brought the crew of the Norwegian bark Saigon abandoned at sea.

Why Grow Old.

I find that if old people are put on a good meat diet in the way of strong soup, beef tea, and animal food, and only just sufficient farinaceous food and fats and sugar to maintain the heat of the body, they increase wonderfully in energy and, as they often express it, feel twenty years younger. This is only natural; it is a food of energy; the food that builds up muscle, nerve, and constitutional stamina.

The requirements of the system in old age, as a rule, are not very great, and more harm is done by taking too much food than by taking too little. I have known people considerably over seventy derive the greatest benefit from a thorough change in diet. It seems to rejuvenate them. Of course, in old age care should be taken that the body is not subjected to rapid changes of temperature. When the nervous power is decreasing as the result of age and the system is losing the power of combating cold and strain upon its energy, a stimulating diet invigorates and is conducive to maintaining constitutional staminal better than any other.

And natural death but from old age and general decay is an accidental death; that is, it is due to causes which might and even perhaps, could have been entirely avoided and remedied in earlier years. But, of course, all the secrets of attaining extreme age are not even now within our reach, and the few that I have pointed out are but a very few and those of the commonest.

It is the inevitable law of nature that we must die. The vital energy that is implanted in the body at birth is only meant to sustain it for a certain number of years. It may be husbanded or wasted, made to burn slowly or rapidly. It is like the oil in a lamp and may be burned out to little effect in a little time or carefully husbanded and preserved, and thus made to last longer and burn brighter.

It is a moot question whether every individual is not at birth gifted with the same amount of vital energy and of life-sustaining power. The probability is that each is. The circumstances of the environments from the cradle to the grave determine its future destiny—Gentlemen's Magazine.

Cream—not Skim Milk.

Every farmer and villager, their wives and boys and girls, will be interested in the big-little, cream-not-skim-milk paper, the FARM JOURNAL, of Philadelphia. Its 200,000 subscribers are scattered from Maine to Washington, and from Michigan to Texas. It's breezy, crisp, boiled-down pages contain as much information in the course of the year as many of the high-priced weeklies; while its earnest, manly tone and its bright and common sense way of treating farm matters leaves a good and lasting taste in one's mouth. The subscription price is 50 cents a year. We have made arrangements with the publisher by which he will send it one full year free, to all who promptly pay up for our paper. Sample copies will be sent free by addressing a postal request to FARM JOURNAL, Philadelphia, Pa. 10-6-2-m.

Tolling a Death in Maine.

A CURIOUS CUSTOM MAINTAINED IN REMOTE REGIONS OF THE PINE TREE STATE.

The traveler through some of the more remote rural regions of Maine occasionally hears what most men of three score and ten remember as a familiar sound in their young days—the tolling of a church bell on the death of a denizen of the neighborhood the strokes numbering the years of the person's life. There is something peculiarly solemn about the use of the bell, so long neglected in the more populous communities, and to a writer for the Lewiston Journal no funeral service ever brought the fact of death home with the same pathos as listening to the unexpected sound of "the death bell," startling the community into a hush, broken for a few minutes only by the low, whispered query, "Why, who can that be? Then, as the tolling went on, the count was kept carefully to help solve the mystory. The tolling began usually very soon after the breath had left the body, and before the news had spread through other channels. If a very aged person, the count would require a considerable time, while all would sit very still and listen for the strokes. A very dramatic scene connected with this old custom of tolling the age of the dead is told by Miss Mu'ock in her novel, "A Brave Lady." It is where the shallow rector has used other money than his own, and is on the point of exposure, and his wife sees no way to avert the disgrace about to settle on her husband and children, when the solemn sound of the death bell peals over the little village. Breathlessly the count is kept and the bell goes on tolling until there is only one person in the community whose age will compare with its stroke—the wealthy old dean who has told the rector's wife he has made her his heir. A dear friend lost, a fortune gained—the means brought to hand to make good her husband's wrongdoing—that is what the death bell tells her. Hearing the old familiar sound pealing solemnly over a Maine hamlet the other day brought this scene to mind most vividly.

For the cure of headache, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs, Ayer's Pills are invaluable. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

Pencilings.

From the Somerville Journal.

It isn't at all fair to estimate the cost of cigarettes to the smoker at only 25 cents a bunch.

An exchange argues that all women should keep books, and so they should—but not the ones they borrow.

Every young boy should learn to swim, but it's a bad way to begin by breaking through the ice in the fall when it first begins to form.

No man has a right to say that the times are hard just because he has found it impossible to borrow anywhere among his friends.

Stolen kisses may be sweetest, but other kind aren't to be sneezed at, if people who claim that they have had experience are to be believed.

Fowls That Lose Their Feathers.

Loss of feathers may be due to either of two causes—disease, or the frequent habit among fowls of pulling each other's plumage and eating them by reason of a depraved appetite due to disease. These diseases are both caused by the food being insufficiently varied, so that the necessities of the system are not met, and an unhealthy craving for something wanting excites them to this habit. Meat scraps are always good for fowls, which are partially carnivorous, but a large quantity of vegetable food is also needed, and of this clover and grass are the most desirable. The food for fowls should consist of a portion of grain, of which corn or barley is the best. This may be varied by a mixture of buckwheat, oats and rye given occasionally. If the fowls are confined, plenty of cut clover will be most useful and will have a strong tendency to prevent troubles of the kind referred to. Kerosene oil is not to be used as a medicine, but is very useful as a remedy for vermin and an insecticide, when applied outwardly.—N. Y. Times.

Catarrh in the Head

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

SUMMARY OF NEWS

Important Events of the Past Week.

FRIDAY, OCT. 27.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Information furnished the state department by Theodore M. Stephan, United States consul at Annaberg, Germany, shows that the opposition in that country to American products did not end with the removal of the restrictions on the importation of American pork and that American hay is now under the ban.

ROME, Oct. 27.—The mayor of Spezzia gave a luncheon last evening to Sir Michael Culme-Seymour and the other officers of the British fleet now visiting the port. Later the Duke of Genoa entertained Admiral Seymour aboard his flagship, the Lepanto, and then Admiral Labrano gave a reception to the officers of the English and Italian fleets.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—Albert Abbink, at the city hospital, is suffering from a disease called anchylostomum dodenals, the effect of which is to render him as white as marble. Even his tongue, gums and finger nails are devoid of all color. He is believed to be the first patient suffering from the peculiar ailment ever in the western country.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Unless the South park commissioners experience a change of heart the world's fair officials will have to live up to the letter of their contracts regarding the removal of buildings. They will also be called upon to turn the park over to the commissioners on Jan. 1, 1894. This was the decision of the board at one of its meetings, and President Donnersberger says this will be final unless something decidedly more pertinent shall be advanced by the fair authorities.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 27.—A year ago a body was buried in St. Joseph's cemetery as that of Annie Dunn, daughter of Ann Dunn, of this city. The young woman left home a number of years ago, and it was reported that a woman answering to that name was found dead in Lowell. The body was brought here and identified as that of the Dunn girl, though the mother refused to see it. The real Annie Dunn has now returned home, and the identity of the dead woman whose body was brought here from Lowell is a mystery.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 27.—It is reported here that woolen manufacturer Jesse Metcalf will start up his Wauskuck mills in a few days at old schedule of wages paid in Olneyville before the strike. Metcalf shut down after the Olneyville manufacturers met and decided upon the 15 to 30 per cent cut. Within the past forty-eight hours several departments in the mills have been started up and the mill may start in full on Monday next. The resumption of operations at Wauskuck will cause trouble among the manufacturers, for it is charged by the Olneyville mill owners that Metcalf has gone back on the schedule-making and deserted the other manufacturers. Metcalf says that the Olneyville manufacturers were not to be trusted on an agreement to cut wages.

SATURDAY OCT. 28.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The house committee on banking and currency has postponed until the regular session in December the further consideration of the bill to suspend the tax on clearing house certificates issued during the stringency.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The treasury department semi-officially declared that there was no further fear of cholera being introduced from Europe by immigrants, in deciding to recall nearly all the surgeons of the marine hospital service now stationed at the principal European ports.

CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 28.—The biggest oil tank ship owned by the Standard oil company was launched yesterday at Roach's shipyard. The vessel is 243 feet long, 37 feet wide, and 19 feet deep. Her capacity is 750,000 gallons of oil in bulk. When she sails from Philadelphia she will carry 15,000 barrels of oil.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct, 28—. H. Irving Latimer, the matricide and murderer of Night Captain George Haight, March 27 last, has been liberated from solitary confinement at the prison, after being shut in a solitary cell two days short of seven months. This is the longest term of solitary confinement given a convict since 1876. The prison physician ordered the release, as he feared Latimer would collapse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Justice P. C. Williams has handed down his decision in the matter of woman's right to register and vote for school commissioners in the rural districts. He decides that the act of 1892 which gave her the right to vote is unconstitutional; that the office of school commissioner is elective and not appointive, and therefore within the rule of the constitution. Upon this the order is entered to remove the names of females from the registry lists.

GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Rev. W. W. Faber, assistant minister of St. Peter's church, at this place, has received a call to become rector of Grace church, at Lockport, with a very liberal offer as to salary. Mr. Faber was formerly a Presbyterian minister at Westfield, N. Y., but joined the Episcopal church about one year ago. He was made a deacon in May last, and will be soon advanced to the priesthood. Mr. Faber is 33 years old. He will probably accept the call.

MONDAY, OCT. 30.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 30.—It is carefully estimated that 1,300 coal miners are out of work in Colorado on account of the strike.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—About 250,000 photographs were destroyed at the post office department Saturday. They represent the accumulation in the dead letter office since 1874.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Woman's Suffrage state committee states that advices show that boards of registry throughout the state have largely followed the committee's advice and registered women as voters, disregarding published reports that the law had been decided unconstitutional.

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—It is stated that the last official act of the convention of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen in this city was to pass resolutions favoring the abolition of Sunday train running. An appeal will be made, it is said, to business men and others to assist the trainmen in securing this day of rest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Chicago roads are busily engaged in figuring up the world's fair traffic since the opening of the exposition. With most of them the conclusions arrived at are but estimates based on the most reliable data at hand. It will be a month or so before strictly reliable figures can be had. So far as the figures on hand go, they show that the number of people brought into Chicago by the 21 passenger lines entering here during the period of the fair was in round numbers 3,335,000. Allowing each of these passengers to have visited the fair five times would account for an attendance of 16,755,000, which would be a good proportion of outside visitors. It would leave but a little over 5,000,000 visits from Chicagoans.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Patrick Eugen Pendergast, the crank who Saturday night assassinated Mayor Harrison, is now safely locked up in cell No. 11 in the county jail. There is no longer any fear of lynching, but the higher officials of the police department thought it best to be on the safe side, and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning Prendergast was removed quietly from the central station, where he was first confined, to one of the outlying police stations. Up to the time of his removal Prendergast maintained the sullen, defiant and indifferent attitude that he had shown ever since he gave himself up to desk Sergeant Barber at Desplaines street. He has been writing threatening postal cards to various city official; he has threatened the life of the mayor in the presence of Mr. Graham, the mayor's secretary; he has demanded that Corporation Counsel Kraus should resign in his favor, and his whole conduct has been that of a man mentally unbalanced, whose mania, taking a homicidal turn, settled upon Mayor Harrison as the imaginary author of his wrongs.

TUESDAY OCT. 31.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—Operations were resumed at the Portage iron works, Duncansville, this morning. The management and the employes adjusted their difficulties and the workmen in the finishing mills accepted an average reduction of 25 per cent. in their wages. The works give employment to 500 men.

RANDOLPH, Mass., Oct. 31.—The directors of the Randolph national bank have notified the stockholders that owing to the smallness of deposits, the lack of profitable local business and large taxes and expense of running the bank, they believe that it is for the best interest of all concerned that the bank go into voluntary liquidation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Emmet abandonment case came up in Justice Koch's private room in the Yorkville police court yesterday. After hearing evidence in the case Justice Koch instructed Emmet to pay his wife $40 a week and placed him under $2,000 bonds. H. C. Miner, of the People's theatre, will become surety.

DUNBAR, Pa., Oct. 31.—Yesterday the central and business portion of Dunbar was destroyed by the most extensive fire in the history of the town. It was with the greatest difficulty that the remainder of the town was saved. The loss will aggregate $40,000, only partly covered by insurance. The fire originated in the basement of Dr. Gaddis' drug store.

RED BANK, N. J., Oct. 31.—The suit of William J. Leonard of the Monmouth Press, and republican candidate for the assembly in the third district of Monmouth county, who was indicted by the grand jury for alleged libel of County clerk Theodore Auhlae, democrat, has been carried to the higher court at Trenton at its next session. This will be after election.

FREDONIA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—A rifle in the hands of Charles West, proprietor of a sporting goods store on Main street, was discharged into a can of powder last night. The can exploded, setting fire to the store, and the blaze spreading to where a large quantity of powder was stored, an explosion followed, which shook the entire village. It blew out the front of the store and broke window glass all along the street.

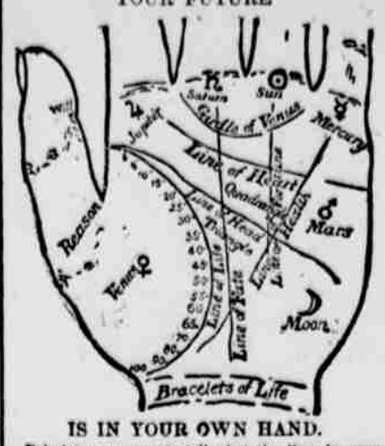
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Mr. Bailey, of Texas, has introduced in the house bills repealing the laws providing for the retirement of officers of the army and navy and providing that such officers heretofore retired shall not receive any pay from the government. He also offered a bill providing that no person who has heretofore resigned his position as a United States judge shall receive any pay from the government.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Daily News says in a leader on the close of the World's fair: "The stockholders of the World's fair will not mind the loss of money they subscribed to beat creation, and they will have their reward in creation having been beaten. The huge advertisement will pay in the long and in the increased self-confidence of the nation and the admiration of foreigners. Let us in all humility own creation's defeat and congratulate our cousins in all sincerity on this great work, greatly done."

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—Ex-Priest Slattery's course of lectures closed last night in a cloud of gloom. An immense audience was present at Turner hall to hear him. Just as the speaker reached what appeared to be the climax of his assaulton the church of Rome the lights were turned out. This is said to have been done by some of his enemies, but uncharitable persons are heard to say that it was by the ex-priest's order. The crowd dispersed quietly and the fifty policemen present were not wanted.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 31.—An attempt was made to wreck train No. 6 on the Auburn road, due here at 9:25 p. m. The train, which is an express, was going at a high rate of speed at the time. Charles Brazee, a one-armed tramp, discovered a pile of railroad ties on the track at Railroad mills, fifteen miles east of this city. He immediately started for help and aroused Postmaster Cutting of Railroad mills, who took a lantern and ran down the track just in time to signal the train. No one was found in the locality, although a number of tramps have been seen in the vicinity within the past few days. The passengers were greatly terrified, and at first thought an attempt was to be made to rob the train. Many hid their valuables in all sorts of convenient places, one man hiding his money between his head and wig. At the point where the attempt to wreck the train was made is a sharp curve with a steep embankment, and had the train struck the obstruction the result would undoubtedly have been very serious.

YOUR FUTURE

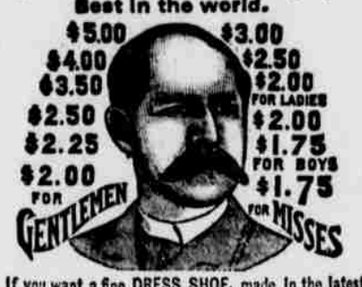


IS IN YOUR OWN HAND.

Palmistry assumes to tell what the lines in your hand indicate. It will amuse you, if nothing more. The above diagram almost explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well-marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF FORTUNE, fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern ideas to win it. You will find plenty of these in Demorest's Family Magazine, so attractively presented that every member of the family is entertained. It is a dozen magazines in one. A CLEAR LINE OF HEART bespeaks tenderness; a straight LINE OF FATE, peaceful life; the reverse if crooked. A well-defined LINE OF HEALTH spares you doctors' bills; so will the health hints in Demorest's. No other magazine publishes so many stories to interest the home circle. You will be subject to extremes of high spirits or despondency if you have the GIRDLE OF VENUS well marked; keep up your spirits by having Demorest's Magazine to read. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the superb premium picture, 17x22 inches, "I'm a Daisy!" which is almost a real baby, and equal to the original oil painting which cost $300; and you will have a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the fads, and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in your subscription at once, only $2.00, and you will really get over $25.00 in value. Address the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the Magazine, send for a specimen copy. A large QUADRANGLE means honesty; a large TRIANGLE, generosity; long FIRST DIVISION OF THUMB, strong will; LONG SECOND DIVISION, reasoning faculty. The MOUNT OF JUPITER betokens ambition; that of SATURN, prudence; the SUN, love of splendor; MARS, courage; MOON, imagination; VENUS, love of pleasure; and MERCURY, intelligence. Take our advice as above and you will be sure to possess the last and most valuable quality.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE WILL NOT RIP.

Do you wear them? When next in need try a pair. Best in the world.



If you want a fine DRESS SHOE, made in the latest styles, don't pay $6 to $8, try my $3, $3.50, $4.00 or $5 Shoe. They fit equal to custom made and look and wear as well. If you wish to economize in your footwear, do so by purchasing W. L. Douglas Shoes. Name and price stamped on the bottom, look for it when you buy.

ACTIVE EXERCISE

and good food in plenty, tends to make children healthy. If children suffer, however, from Scrofulous, Skin or Scalp, Diseases—if their blood is impure and pimples or boils appear, they should be given the right medicine. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery brings about the best bodily condition. It purifies the blood and renders the liver active as well as building up health and strength. Puny, pale, weak children get a lasting benefit and "a good start" from the use of the "Discovery." It puts on wholesome flesh, and does not nauseate and offend the stomach like the various preparations of Cod liver oil. It's guaranteed to benefit or cure you, or your money is returned.

David Kramer was thrown to the ground and severely hurt on Monday afternoon by the breaking of a ladder while he was painting the window caps on the third story of Judge Ikeler's residence. The ladder stood on the roof of the back porch, and one of the rounds to which the rope was tied, broke, and the ladder fell, throwing Kramer off, cutting his head and bruising him badly.

Mrs. Eckert Jacobs died at her home on Main street on Monday night at 11 o'clock. On Wednesday of last week she was stricken with paralysis while at the dinner table, and never spoke afterwards. Her age was 54 years. She leaves a husband and nine children. The funeral took place at the house on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Jacobs was a daughter of Robert Young of Berwick, and has a sister residing in Berwick and four brothers in Danville.

Patrick Dillon died suddenly at the home of his son, J. L. Dillon on the Lightstreet road,on Wednesday morning, from an attack of apoplexy. He was not feeling very well and lay down on a lounge, where his granddaughter, Miss Alice Dillon, found him unable to speak, and in a few minutes he was dead. Two sons, J. L. Dillon of Bloomsburg, and Emerson Dillon of Scranton, survive him. For many years he was employed at the Irondale store, and subsequently engaged in farming and trucking. He was a member of the Episcopal church and a good citizen, and his friends have the sympathy of the community. The funeral will be held on Friday at 3 p. m. at the church.

An Appeal to Simon Long.

Having been appealed to by many readers of this paper to continue his 46th anniversary sale a few days longer to give them all an opportunity to come to Wilkes Barre to get the benefit of the many bargains offered this week, Simon Long has concluded to continue the sale for six days only next week. He will continue to allow 10 per cent., which alone more than pays your fare. He will also continue to sell children's pants for 10c, children's suits 25c, boys' suits and overcoats (extra quality) 74c, heavy winter caps 15c, men's special cassimere suits $2.99, men's heavy storm overcoats (regular price $5) for 2.99, men's and boy's never-rip pantaloons 75c, men's and boy's genuine Jersey shirts 43c, men's cardigan jackets (all wool) 50c, men's and boy's extra quality heavy working gloves 45c, besides many other bargains too numerous to mention. Sale lasts for six days longer only, Monday to Saturday, Nov. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

This is the time of year when everybody begins to think about cleaning up and making improvements, and new wall paper is usually one of the first things to be done. W. H. Brooke & Co. have a very large and elegant stock to select from. Call and see and get estimates. 3-31-tf.

Assaulted a Girl.

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED!
La Grippe Baffled!
The After Effects Cured

Mr. Bilger writes: "I had a bad attack of the Grippe: after a time caught cold and had a second attack; it settled in my kidneys and liver, and Oh! such pain and misery in my back and legs.

The Physicians' medicine and other things that I used made no impression, and I continually grew worse until I was a physical wreck, and given up to die.

Father bought me a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's SWAMP-ROOT, and before I had used all of the second bottle I felt better, and to-day I am just as well as ever. A year has passed and not a trace of the Grippe is left. SWAMP-ROOT saved my life."

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.
